Michael, attached is a message just received from Dr Sas, which sounds promising.

Before you courier the material to Prof Davies, I feel I should see it - so that if he has to discuss things over the phone with me, I understand what he is looking at. (I have already seen it all of course, but I want to see the form his lot takes). Could I call on you briefly at 8.30 a.m. Monday 14 August for this purpose? Second choice - 12.30 Monday. Please confirm by e-mail - I am engaged with the Genetics Commission today. Thanks

Thomas Eichelbaum

>Your Honour,

>I have just returned from a week's holiday and read your email. I am very >flattered that you would consider me as a consultant for this "inquiry".

>Over the next few days, I will endeavor to read the details of your email >more closely, and will attempt to suggest a time line, and a budget for the >work. I am very busy at the moment, involved in a number of high profile >criminal matters of child abuse. However this project certainly appears very >worthwhile and interesting, both academiccally and clinically. I will send >you my cv in the mail, and hopefully over the next week , we will be able to >discuss the parameters of the report in greater detail, so that I can >develop a realistic time frame for the report, and we can mutually decide

>that meets your needs.

Sincerely, Louise Sas
